

PersonalNOVEL is looking for writers!

Are you a Freelance writer interested in dealing with an unusual book project and developing your own ideas? Are you used to commissioned work without creativity being left behind? Would you like to write for a broad audience with no boundaries to genres and stories?

If any of that describes you, then now is your chance: PersonalNOVEL, market leader in personalised books, is looking for talented writers to extend its range of English books!

Here's what's in it for you:

- Fixed advance payment and royalties for every sold book
- Exposure to a growing audience in the UK (and soon in the US) as well as an established customer base in Germany
- Being part of an innovative company breaking into the English market

What we are looking for:

- Experienced writers of fiction
- All genres (esp. romance, thrillers, funny chick lit)
- Swift implementation of projects (length of books around 55,000 words)

Interested? Send us your application with the following information:

- Your CV
- Reference list of previous publications
- 2 different samples of your work (each max. 5 pages), preferably an extract from a novel or a short story
- Your specialisations and interests (genre, topics etc.)

Please send your application by email to:

editorial@personalnovel.com, contact: Sophie Königsberger

About the company

PersonalNOVEL, www.personalnovel.co.uk, is the publishing house for personalised books and novels with the largest product line worldwide comprising of more than 170 personalisable novels in German and English, and approximately 50 children's and picture books with various possibilities of individualisation.

Founded in 2003, PersonalNOVEL is still a 100% owner-operated company without external participation. To date, PersonalNOVEL is the unabridged dominating market leader for personalised literature on the German speaking market.

Find out more on: www.personalnovel.co.uk